As indicated in these GCS, any fraudulent behaviour or manoeuvres related to claims or reservations made regarding packages received (missing items, damaged products in particular) will be liable to criminal prosecution or the appropriate legal action.

7. LEGAL GUARANTEE OF CONFORMITY

(1) Under applicable law, the Seller is liable for defects in the conformity of the Products delivered and for hidden defects in the Products sold by them in accordance with the statutory provisions.

(2) The Products sold must be in conformity with the contract and free of defects at the time of delivery.

(3) The Seller shall also be liable for any lack of conformity resulting from the packaging, the assembly instructions or the installation, if applicable, if the latter was made incumbent on the Seller under the contract or was carried out under the Seller's responsibility, or if the incorrect installation carried out by the Customer as provided for in the contract is due to deficiencies or errors in the installation instructions provided by the Seller.

(4) In accordance with applicable law, the Product is in conformity with the contract if it meets the following criteria, where applicable:

1. It corresponds to the description, type, quantity and quality, including completeness, functionality, compatibility, interoperability, or any other characteristics provided for in the contract;
2. It is suitable for any special purpose sought by the Customer, which was made known to the Seller at the latest at the time of the conclusion of the contract and which the latter has accepted;
3. It is delivered with all accessories and installation instructions, to be provided in accordance with the contract;
4. It is updated in accordance with the contract.

(5) In addition to the criteria of conformity with the contract, the Product is conforming if it meets the following criteria:

1. It is fit for the purpose normally expected of a Product of the same type, taking into account, where applicable, any provisions of European Union and national law and any technical standards or, in the absence of such technical standards, specific codes of conduct applicable to the sector concerned;
2. If applicable, it has the qualities that the Seller presented to the Customer in the form of a sample or model before the contract was concluded and correspond to the description of such a sample or model;

3. Where applicable, the digital elements contained therein shall be provided according to the most recent version available at the time of the conclusion of the contract, unless the parties agree otherwise;
4. Where applicable, it shall be delivered with all accessories, including packaging, and installation instructions that the consumer may legitimately expect;
5. Where applicable, it is provided with the updates that the Customer may legitimately expect;
6. It corresponds to the quantity, quality and other characteristics, including durability, functionality, compatibility and safety, that the consumer may legitimately expect for Products of the same type, taking into account the nature of the Product as well as public statements made by the seller, by any person upstream in the transaction chain, or by a person acting on their behalf, including in advertising or on labelling.

(6) The Seller shall not, however, be bound by the aforementioned public statements if it demonstrates:

1. That he did not know them and was not legitimately in a position to know them;
2. that at the time of the conclusion of the contract, the public statements had been corrected in a manner comparable to the original statements; or
3. That the public statements could not have influenced the purchase decision.

(7) The Customer may not contest conformity by invoking a defect in one or more particular characteristics of the Product, which it has been specifically informed deviates from the conformity criteria set out in this article, and to which it has expressly and separately consented.

(9) Any defects in conformity that appear within twenty-four (24) months of delivery of the Product are, in the absence of proof to the contrary, presumed to exist at the time of delivery.

The Customer has a period of up to three (3) years from the delivery of the Product, according to the applicable law, to obtain the implementation of the legal guarantee of conformity in the event of the appearance of a defect of conformity. During this period, the Customer is only required to establish the existence of the lack of conformity and not the date of its appearance. The Seller cannot invoke the lapse of the term for establishing a defect if the defect was deceitfully concealed in the Product.

Where the contract for the sale of the Product provides for the supply of digital content or a digital service on a continuous basis for a period of more than two (2) years, the legal warranty shall apply to that digital content or digital service throughout the period of supply provided. During this period, the Customer is only required to establish the existence of the lack of conformity affecting the digital content or service and not the date of its appearance. However, if the contract for the sale of products with digital elements provides for the continuous supply of the digital content or services for a period of less than three years, the period of liability shall be three years from the time of delivery.

The legal guarantee of conformity creates an obligation for the Seller, where applicable, to provide all updates necessary to maintain the conformity of the Product. The Seller is not liable for defects in conformity if the Customer, who were previously informed about the update and consequences of not installing the update, does not install within reasonable time the updates delivered by the Seller, unless the lack of installation or improper installation of the updated resulted from errors in installation instructions delivered by the Seller.

The legal guarantee of conformity entitles the Customer to repair or replace the Product within thirty days (30) of his request, free of charge and without any major inconvenience to him, unless one of these two options proves impossible or, in comparison with the other remedial measure, entails disproportionate costs for the Seller.

If the Customer requests the repair of the Product, but the Seller imposes the replacement, the legal warranty of conformity is renewed for a period of two years from the date of the replacement of the Product.

The Customer may obtain a reduction in the purchase price by retaining the Product or terminate the contract by obtaining a full refund against return of the Product, if:

1° The repair is impossible or disproportionate.

2° The Seller has declared or refuses to repair or replace the Product, or refuses to do so within a reasonable time or without major inconvenience to the Customer.

3° The repair or replacement of the Product takes place after a period of thirty (30) days;

4° The repair or replacement of the Product causes a major inconvenience to the Customer, in particular if the Customer definitively bears the costs of taking back or removing the non-conforming Product, or if he bears the costs of installing the repaired or replacement Product;

5° The non-conformity of the Product persists despite the Seller's unsuccessful attempt to bring it into conformity.

The Customer is also entitled to a reduction in the price of the Product or to rescission of the contract where the lack of conformity is so serious that it justifies immediate reduction in price or rescission of the contract. In such cases, the Customer is not obliged to request the repair or replacement of the Product beforehand. Where legally required, the costs of repair or replacement, including the costs of postage, transport, labour and materials, shall be borne by the Seller.

The Customer is not entitled to rescind the sale if the lack of conformity is minor, except in cases where the Customer has provided personal data in return.

Where the defect in conformity concerns only some of the Products from an order, the Customer may withdraw from the contract in respect of those Products with a defect of conformity, and also in respect of the other Products purchased by the Customer together with the non-conforming ones, if it cannot be reasonably expected that the Customer agrees to keep only the Products in conformity with the contract.

Any period during which the Product is out of service for repair or replacement shall suspend the remaining warranty period until delivery of the repaired Product.

A Seller who obstructs in bad faith the implementation of the legal guarantee of conformity may be liable to a fine according to the applicable law, which in some cases, may be up to 10% of the average annual turnover.

The Customer also benefits from the legal guarantee for hidden defects for a period of up to two (2) years, as specified by the applicable law, from the discovery of the defect, according to the applicable law. This guarantee entitles the Customer to a price reduction if the Product is kept or to a full refund in return for the return of the Product.

8. RIGHT OF WITHDRAWAL

(1) In accordance with the applicable law, the Customer, who is a consumer purchasing from a professional trader, has the right to withdraw from all or part of his or her order, without giving any reason, and which expires fourteen (14) days after receipt of the order (date of delivery or collection of the order, depending on the Products and the option chosen by the Customer). In the case of different delivery times for the same order, the above period shall run from the day on which the Customer or a third party indicated by him/her, other than the carrier, acquires the physical possession of the last parcel of the order.

Exceptions for the right of withdrawal are set out in section (4) below. A model of the withdrawal form is provided at the end of this section or by using the link provided throughout this section.

(2) In order for the withdrawal period to be respected, it is sufficient for the Customer to send the communication relating to the exercise of this right, as explained below (or make some other unequivocal statement indicating its decision to withdraw from the contract) before the expiry of the period of fourteen (14) days after receipt of the ordered Products.

(3) If the Customer makes use of this right of withdrawal, the Products must be returned within fourteen (14) days of the communication of the exercise of the right of withdrawal, in their original packaging, in perfect condition, unused and accompanied by all accessories and user manuals, as well as the return form duly completed. The returned Products must not have been used in any way or handled in any way other than to establish the nature, characteristics, and proper functioning of the goods. Products that are incomplete, damaged, or soiled by the Customer will not be accepted.

(4) Certain Products are not subject to the right of withdrawal. This is the case for Products that have been unsealed by the Customer after delivery and that cannot be resold, in particular for reasons of hygiene or health protection (for example, bodysuits, lingerie and pyjamas, swimwear, cosmetic products, jewellery and accessories (except for scarves, bags and mermaid blankets)) or Products which have been personalised for the Customer.

(5) The return package must be returned to the nearest point of return according to the logistics company corresponding to the return label, at the latest fourteen (14) days after the withdrawal request. Please note that the package must not be returned to the sender's address which does not correspond to the return address. Otherwise, the package will be lost. The Customer shall send the return package to the address indicated by the Operator.

(6) If the order is returned undamaged and unused, the Customer shall be refunded the price of the Products and the standard delivery charges paid, unless otherwise indicated. If the Customer has expressly chosen a more expensive delivery method than the standard delivery method offered by the Seller, these delivery costs will not be refunded. The additional costs charged for any order over 180 euros (including VAT) (customs duties, storage and customs clearance costs) will not be refunded. This does not affect Customer's statutory rights. It should be noted that in the event of withdrawal of only part of the order, the refund of the delivery costs and additional costs will be equal to the amount of the costs that would not have been charged to the Customer if the said products had not been purchased.

(7) The cost of returning the Product(s) shall be borne by the Seller provided that the Customer follows the return instructions in our Returns Policy.

(8) The Seller shall make the refund by transfer to the card used for the payment of the order, and at the latest fourteen (14) days from the receipt of the Products.

(9) Please note that the Customer may also choose to receive a refund in Wallet Credits. These credits may give rise to a refund of the balance via the original payment method used when placing a new order. A digital wallet credit granted by the Operator through other means, as described in the GCU, which is not linked to a returned item, cannot however give rise to a cash refund.

(10) In accordance with the GCU, Wallet credits can only be redeemed on the website where the credit was granted (e.g. if the Customer ordered and then returned a product on the <https://euqs.shein.com/> website and chose to receive a credit, this credit can only be redeemed on the <https://euqs.shein.com/> website).

The Marketplace is only provided for domestic and private use. When legally permitted, the Seller shall not be liable under these GCS for any loss of income, loss of profit, loss of data, business interruption (all whether direct or indirect) nor any indirect or consequential loss of any kind whatsoever arising from the purchase of a Product.

10.7 Subject to compliance with the procedure set out hereof to the extent permitted by the applicable law, the Seller shall compensate the Customer in the event of damage to or loss of the product upon delivery of the order by the carrier to the Customer's delivery address, either by delivering a new item to the Customer corresponding to the damaged or lost item (subject to availability and using the same shipping method with no additional shipping costs, and subject to the same terms and conditions as those applicable at the time of the original order), or by refunding the Customer the purchase price and shipping charges paid (provided that the shipping charges did not include any other items delivered undamaged), at its discretion.

10.8 Any fraudulent behaviour or manoeuvres in relation to claims or reservations made regarding packages received (missing items, damaged products in particular) will be liable to civil and/or criminal prosecution.
